Dear Shri Rangasamy, I. VASANTHAKUMAR REDDY
OSD to Chief Minister

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

Despatched on: 18 JUL 2013

I am writing to follow up on an issue that has come up in many of our meetings during Annual Plan discussions. The issue relates to restructuring of the Centrally Sponsored Schemes (CSS). As you well know, States have consistently argued that there is a proliferation of CSS, which makes it very difficult for district administrations to keep track of, let alone optimise the use of, resources from numerous channels. States have also frequently complained that the guidelines for CSS are too rigid, and often do not meet the situations of the individual States. The resulting "one size fits all" approach is not economically efficient.

Recognising the need for restructuring of CSS, the Planning Commission had appointed the B.K. Chaturvedi Committee to make comprehensive recommendations on this subject after consulting the State Governments. The Report of the Committee was well received, and in the last meeting of the N.D.C. to approve the 12th Plan, many CMs called for early implementation. The Prime Minister also indicated that action would be taken on these lines. I am happy to convey to you that the Cabinet has now approved a major restructuring of the Centrally Sponsored Schemes along the lines recommended by the Chaturvedi Committee.

The broad features of the restructuring are as follows:

- i) The total number of Centrally Sponsored Schemes has been reduced from 142 to 66. Annex-I provides a mapping of the existing and new schemes showing how several of these have been collapsed into a single umbrella scheme.
- ii) For the current year, the existing schemes will continue with the allocations as specified in the Budget document for 2013-14. From next year onwards however, many of these schemes are being merged into a single scheme (in Annex I) and suitable guidelines for the use of resources under these schemes will be laid down.
- iii) To overcome the problem posed by one-size-fits-all approach, it is proposed that the existing guidelines for each individual CSS can be modified on a state-by-state basis based on the recommendations of the State Government, given the special circumstances of the State.

State Governments are urged to review the existing guidelines and to come up with their suggestions. These suggestions will be considered by a Committee chaired by the Secretary, Planning Commission, which will include the Secretary of the concerned Ministry. It will be our objective to persuade the Ministries to agree on as much flexibility as possible, to meet the legitimate expectations of the States.

- iv) In addition to allowing State-specific flexibility in guidelines, it is also proposed to introduce in each scheme an additional flexibility of 10 percent of the allocation for the State, which can be used by the State Governments to promote innovative programmes within the broad objective laid down for the CSS. Projects financed under this window do not have to meet even the guidelines proposed by the State – they can depart from the guidelines in the interest of allowing innovation, provided the project serves the broad objectives of the Centrally Sponsored Scheme.
- v) Experience with the new system will be reviewed before the end of the Twelfth Plan, and modifications, if necessary, can be built into the system from the Thirteenth Five Year Plan.

I hope you will agree that these changes represent a very substantial response to what we have always felt was the legitimate demand of the State Governments for greater flexibility. I would request you to get your Chief Secretary to undertake an urgent review of the schemes from the perspective of the State, and write to Secretary, Planning Commission, indicating what changes the State would want.

With warm regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Montek Singh Ahluwalia)
